2017 Home Tour: Experience the beauty & magic of Christmas

Ever wonder what it looks like behind the doors of some of the most beautiful homes in Renfrew at Christmas time? Looking for holiday decorating inspiration?

The ladies of the RVH Auxiliary can help you out on both counts.

On Sunday, November 26 you are able to take a self-guided Christmas Home Tour of seven beautiful dwellings in and around our community.

This festive tour is a very important fundraiser for our hospital, say the organizers. The Auxiliary began coordinating this popular event in 2011.

“It’s a pleasure to be part of such an uplifting activity for everyone involved; all monies raised go directly to our very own Renfrew Victoria Hospital,” notes Janie Bilson, one of the Auxiliary members.

Tour participants can expect to see everything from restored historic charmers to modern, custom-built homes all decked out for the season.

“The families graciously and willingly invite the community to enjoy the passion they have put into decorating their homes for the holidays. Participants have the opportunity to gaze through these charming structures and become captivated not only with their beauty, but the fascinating history of each individual house. Homeowners are very enthusiastic about sharing their stories and their love of the holiday season,” Bilson adds.

Tour passes are $25 each and available from the RVH Gift Shop, the RVH Foundation office, Aikenheads Drug Store and The Flower Factory in Renfrew, Candlewick Gift Shop in Cobden, or Audrey’s In Town Fashions in Arnprior.

The event will run from 12:30 p.m. until 5 p.m. Each ticket includes a stop at the RVH Cafeteria for dessert tea and a chance to win an original piece of artwork from Renfrew artist Diana Wakely.

While at RVH, guests are invited to visit the RVH Gift Shop to take advantage of the “20% off sale” on regularly priced merchandise.
